Security Management

NexusProtect will help you empower your business so to be able to protect its people, physical assets, intellectual property and your profits through holistic security management. NexusProtect will enable your business to thrive with a safe and secure working environment.

A silo-based approach creates dangerous gaps and vulnerabilities within your business that will create security breaches, which can cause significant financial and reputational damage.

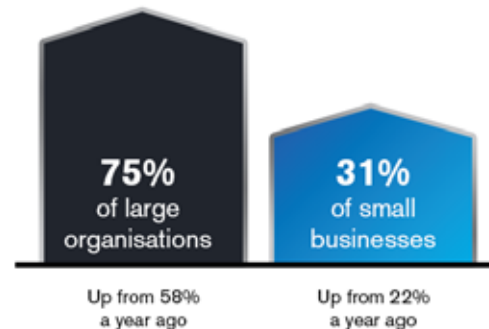

Risk management - utilising a coordinated approach to minimise, monitor, and control the probability and/or impact of security events is essential.

The identification, assessment, and prioritisation of risks is critical to the success of any business. Ineffective security risk management will create a culture where security vulnerabilities and incidents will occur.

Holistic approach - this provides the opportunity for a coordinated plan between technical and non-technical security expertise, offering a complete and overarching security strategy for your business.

Reported staff-related information security breaches:

Key personnel - security management is only as effective as its leadership. A clear and defined strategy will identify those individuals who are critical to the success of your security management strategy. This will enable key personnel to understand, interact and deliver your security plan.

A lack of investment in key personnel in and around your security strategy will ultimately result in a failure of any implementation.

NexusProtect will develop your security management framework and strategy that will ensure your business and team has the right skills, tools and processes to deal with potential security threats.
